

WIN A FREE GETAWAY TO THE HOMESTEAD — PAGE 67

PINNACLE LIVING

the style and spirit of the southern mountains

lake living in the mountains

asheville beauty

a hideaway home 10
minutes from downtown

shelton vineyards

try the gold medal
2003 riesling

outside living

the glorious comeback of the all-season porch

EARLY SUMMER 04 $4.50

HIGH- MOUNTAIN CLUBS

For nights to remember, this regal dining room at Linville Ridge sets the mood for unforgettable special events.

THE CLIFFS AT GLASSY

A South Carolina jewel, The Cliffs at Glassy opened its golf course in 1993, won Golf Digest's rating as fourth most beautiful in the nation in 1995, and offers guests a breathtaking view from the handsome clubhouse.

each month and they really bring our neighborhoods together. People get to know one another very well, which makes our community feel like family."

Others echo the sentiment.

Says Ron Long, a Greenville, S.C. native and long-time Dallas, Texas resident, of The Cliffs at Glassy (S.C.): "Because most of our property owners are from other parts of the country, we are an extended family. We all come here with a blank slate and this beautiful facility allows us to bond together and forge strong relationships, actually, stronger relationships with our neighbors in four years than in 25 years in Dallas." He and wife Beth enjoy more extras: world-class golf, "one of the nicest wellness programs in the country, fine dining and all sorts of outdoor activities."

It's the same experience for Jake & Dink Boundy, who moved from Illinois to retire at Rarity Bay, Tenn. Today, they are avid golfers and involved in the property owners association.

"What the country club does is provide a very comfortable environment where we can socialize, build friendships and have fun," she says. "That's what retirement living is to me. We're a bunch of folks from all over the country and we're all looking to make friendship quickly because we've left family and friendships behind. The country club gives us a place to

Location: Landrum, S.C.

Developed: 1993 golf course opening; 1996 clubhouse.

What's available: Tom Jackson-designed golf course, rated fourth most beautiful in the nation by Golf Digest in 1995; Wellness, Swim & Tennis Center with tennis courts, pool, fitness facility, group exercise classes and wellness library, 22,000-square-foot clubhouse with pro shop, restaurant, bar, pub and meeting/conference rooms, hiking, biking and nature trails.

Altitude: 2,500-2,800 up to 3,200 feet.

Special features: Only Bentgrass golf course, from tees to greens, in South Carolina, with 75-mile views in every direction; private helicopter pad.